Rubinacci, 96 Mount Street, London

Approved Inspector Service

Rubinacci's work dates back to the first half of the eighteen hundreds, when great grandfather Mariano Rubinacci started trading silk with the East, from a store near Castello Angioino, in Italy. Since then, the Rubinacci brand has become a worldwide expression of the finest and most refined elements in menswear.

Architect
RCKa

Opened in 2005 in the heart of London, at number 96 Mount Street, is Rubinaccis latest elegant atelier. It shares the same atmosphere of the other Rubinacci sartorial shops: a cosy salon where patrons will find the finest English fabrics sown by the Neapolitan Maison's master tailors. A recipe for success that demanded that the shop further expanded in 2012.

Construction

Wilkinson Construction Consultants were appointed as Approved Inspectors for this expansion which saw the conversion of the basement into additional retail space. This presented a series of problems for means of escape and disabled access, which we were able to resolve by adopting a flexible approach to reflect the existing nature of the building.

Sector
Retail

By ensuring that all facilities in the basement could be replicated at ground floor, and with the installation of fire glass to protect the open stairwell, the clients aspirations could be met.

The extended store reopened in October 2012
